Staff of
Year Book

The staff of the nineteen twenty-one YEAR BOOK presents this volume for your perusal.

Our inspiration for undertaking this work was furnished by the desire that we might possess for future years some tangible memento of our school life, and a lasting record of the characteristics and achievements of our fellow classmates.

The magnitude of the undertaking makes us conscious of its imperfections. However, we present it as the result of sincere effort and earnest endeavor; and we know that you, its readers, will treat with leniency the modest offerings contained herein.

And you, fellow classmates, if, on glancing through these pages in the years to come, one spark of joy is kindled within you, we will feel amply repaid for all our labors.

We, the class of 1921, wish to express our appreciation to our coach and advisor, Miss Lillian R. Hartigan, because of her gentle guidance as a teacher; her untiring work for the Senior Drama; her willing and unselfish help as advisor to the class; her sympathetic interest in the students themselves; both individually and collectively; her enthusiastic support of every student activity; her sense of fair play; her cheerful good nature; her spirit of true comradeship; and, above all, her own sterling worth as a woman.

To all those members of the Art Department who labored so faithfully for the success of the 1921 YEAR BOOK, we, the staff, extend our heartfelt gratitude. Without their untiring efforts our publication would be next to impossible, so we say again, thank you one and all.

Whatever ideas and material we may have taken from any source are gratefully acknowledged. We take this opportunity to thank again all those who assisted, even unwittingly, in the making of this volume.

HARRY V. GOODWIN

Forget-me-not

"Forget-me-not!" What sweeter thing
Can man or woman ever sing!
It is like the blooming flower
In its wondrous verdant bower,
Sparkling with the dew of morn
Waiting for the day to dawn.
Sweeter than the red, red rose
As it rests in sweet repose.
Pure as lily on her stem
Shining like a precious gem.
Gentler than the tulip gay
Catching sunlight's brightest ray.
Humbler than the daisy white
In her bed so fresh and bright,
"Forget-me-not!" I long to hear,
From my friends, both far and near.

MARION G. HANABURY.

CERCLE FRANCAIS

The advisors of the Cercle Francais are Mrs. Burton and Miss McCarthy; the president is Edith Nolan, and the vice-presidents are Barbara Barton, Arthur King, Claire Kirkjean, and E. Bradford Nichols.

At one meeting Mr. Derry spoke about the relationship between the Latin and French languages; at another meeting Miss Ricker talked about her work in France. The club had a Valentine meeting at Mrs. Burton's and its other entertainments at the homes of various members. At the "Get Together Day," the club had a grab and novelty table.

F. A. C.

The Four Arts Club, under the supervision of Miss Wood and Miss Morton, has had many successful programs of literature, dramatics, music, and art given by groups of the members or by efficient outside speakers. There is not space to give due mention to the work of the officers headed by Gregory Cooper as president, to the production of "The Crimson Cocoanut," to the contests in the four arts managed by Eugenia Houston and Alice Lockhart, and to the meeting at Robert Bennink's home.

MATH. CLUB

The seventy-nine members of the mathematical club enthusiastically attended the meetings when Professor Senter of Boston University talked about "Mathematics on Shipboard," and when Mr. Bramhall spoke about "Noteworthy Properties of the Triangle and Its Circle." Henry Stevens was elected president of the club; Ruth Miles, Secretary and treasurer; and an executive council of John Robertson, Bradford Nichols, and Howard Sprott was elected. At the Get Together Day, the club had charge of the checking.

SPANISH

The Spanish Club this year was blessed with efficient officers—Grace Sullivan as president, Dorothy Fay and Claire Kirkjean as vice-president and secretary,—with enthusiastic members, and with many pleasing speakers. These speakers were Senor Lino Castellego, Senorita Rodriguiz, Senorita Menesis, Dr. Kliene, and Senora Cornejo.

FUTURE REVERIES

The Juniors, interspersed with a large number of Seniors, frolicked before a formidable array of patrons and patronesses on April first. Mrs. MacNair, Miss Wood, Miss Elliott, Miss Morton, Miss McElroy, Mr. and Mrs. Bliss, and Mr. Cleveland took good care of us until half past eleven.

Our Senior Social was an unusual affair, a Country Dance. The girls wore gingham dresses and the boys most any old thing. The main features were a specialty entertainment, and a basket lunch. Everyone expressed approval of everything the committee offered, so a pleasant time was enjoyed by all. Music was furnished by Bruce Clark's orchestra and satisfied the most erratic members of the class. Miss Russell and Miss Slade acted as matrons.

On April 29th, the Harvard Band gave a very interesting concert in the Latin School Hall. There was dancing after in the gymnasium.

May 23rd brought forth some exceptional talent in the declaiming field. The Liberty Prize Speaking Contest was held for the fourth time and provided a very enjoyable evening. Miss Hartigan is to be complimented on the finish of the performers, for the polish is obtained under her instruction.

Ivy Day has been set for June 14 and the program looks promising. The Class of 1921 is presenting twenty-two sprigs of ivy to the school which are to be planted in front of the Annex. It is hoped that in time they will obliterate the three colors of which our school is now made up.

"The time, the place, and the girl," are all that can be mentioned of the Senior Reception. June 14 is the time; Walker Memorial, the place; and you know the girl all right.

Graduation is at Memorial Hall June 16, 1921.

SENIOR
DRAMA

Comedy in High School; ambition is not dead. Seniors can produce "heavy" plays on their dignity, but comedy was indeed an ambitious undertaking. However, the class of 1921 gave a performance of The Country Cousin, which was a credit to the school, the Senior Class, and Miss Hartigan. The dramatic ability of the cast moulded into perfect shape by Miss Hartigan and presented with the co-operation of the drama committee, made January 28 and 29 memorable dates to all the Seniors.

George Tewkesberry Reynolds III, who but our own "Cheese" could have given such a truly remarkable interpretation? And for the man there must be a maid, so Madeleine Leslabay, as Nancy Price, works an invigorating change through a series of humorous incidents. Both, in difficult characterizations played remarkably well.

Carolyn Hymphreys as the much petted Eleanor Howitt was a sweet, winsome, impulsive, ingenue. Her bold "knight errant" Sam Wilson was the cause of many a smile during the evening. Abraham Doctoroff brought to this part dramatic ability of an unusual character which was well received.

Every play must have its villain which makes it hard for someone to "buckle down" and be real disagreeable for a whole evening. Stanley Howitt the cold, calculating, scheming, "heavy" was admirably portrayed by Harry V. Goodwin. His wife, Mrs. Maude Howitt by her continual "nagging" kept us on edge. In this part Ruth Loomer, showed great ability. Much credit is due this couple for the way in which they subdued their personalities throughout the performance.

The "high life" of New York is no easy thing for young folks to portray. Therefore much praise is to be bestowed upon Ellen Leonard, Katherine Bradly, and Donald Howard for their characterizations as Athalie Wainwright, Mrs. Jane Kenney, and Cyril Kenney, respectively, they produced perfect "Social hangers-on."

James Cleary as Archie Gore furnished our "man about town." This imitation stamped him as an impersonator of ability. To the character of the kind, tender, loving, country Aunt, Eleanor McLaughlin lent her own personality making Mrs. Price Ramsey a well remembered figure. And who but "Sandy" Clyde could have played Pruitt the butler with his Scotch accent? The finishing touches were added by Philip Doherty as Blake the jeweler's messenger. We must compliment the actors and actresses upon their finished production of such a difficult piece.

The whole production is one that deserves our praise. Miss Hartigan's coaching, the foundation upon which success was built, is especially to be commended. The drama committee under the chairmanship of Marie Heller was also largely responsible for our great success, financially as well as socially.

"PIRATES OF PENZANCE"

There are not sufficient adjectives to adequately describe the performance of the PIRATES OF PENZANCE, by the musical clubs. Mr. Whoriskey, Miss Hartigan, and Mr. Bramhall should feel proud of the undeniable success of their proteges. The Opera fulfilled our greatest expectations and brought pleasure to all those who witnessed it at Newtowne Hall on April 15 and 16.

Isadore Zarakov, as the Pirate Chief, gave a very realistic picture of that swaggering, carefree occupation. His song, "I am a Pirate King," was well rendered and equally well received.

The work of Samuel, his lieutenant, played by Thomas Gibson, was on a par with that of the best.

Gabriel Hochberg, carrying the leading role, as Frederick, brought out the best that was in both his lines and his songs.

The bluff old Major-General, Bradford Nichols, was truly a treat. His handling of the "orphan" situation was very commendable. Douglas A. MacKinnon, impersonating the Sergeant of Police, improved considerably over his work of last year in the "Mikado." He combined a good voice with a free and easy carriage while "on stage."

Mabel, played by Alice Erhardt, upheld all the traditions of the musical clubs. Her appreciation and execution of the music was perfect.

Her older sisters, Kate, Edith and Isabel, played by Ruth Kimber, Etta Glasin and Helen Whoriskey, respectively, displayed talent of a higher grade than is usually found in High School performances.

To Ruth, the piratical maid of all work, much credit is due. In a difficult part, Helen Moran, did more than sing, she acted. Her characterization was at all times good.

To the chorus also a full measure of praise is due. Their untiring work at rehearsals was a prime factor in the successful presentation of this delightful opera.

"THE REVIEW"

The "Review" started out with flying banners this year. Two numbers have been published, at Thanksgiving and Christmas. These were greeted with enthusiasm by the school, and the staff felt well encouraged by the results of their labors, and planned to make the last three issues even better than the first two. But alas, they were doomed to disappointment; for the "Review" was by no means immune to the effects of hard times. Our printer was forced out of business by existing conditions. It has been difficult to find another who will continue this work for us. However, we are assured that two more numbers will be forthcoming before the end of the year, and, as the trite old adage says, "Anything worth having is worth waiting for."

The staff has been fortunate again this year in having Miss Hardy as faculty advisor. Her great interest and constant willingness to help is indeed a source of inspiration to those connected with the paper.

We wish the staff of next year all good luck. Aided by the hearty co-operation of the school may they reach even higher attainments than have yet been realized.

KLAWHOWJA BJUSTOFE OF '21

(Work and Play Girls of '21)

The Klawhowja Bjustofe club has an average membership of thirty, a K. B. Pin, and a treasury. Their advisors have been Miss Wood, in the Freshman year; Mr. Leonard during their Sophomore and Junior years; and at present they are under the guidance of Miss Elliott and Miss Hartigan. They wish to take advantage of this opportunity to express their thanks to all three of these advisors.

Numerous hikes, a picnic to Brook Farm, a house-party at Margaret Hadley's summer home in New Hampshire, and a number of informal dances have comprised their individual activities.

The club has also been active in all school functions. They were well represented in the Liberty Medal Contests, The Pirates of Penzance, and the Senior Drama. Their President, Marie Heller, was chairman of the Drama Committee, while Ellen Leonard, Katherine Bradley, and Ruth Loomer were in the cast. Much of the candy sold between the acts was either made or solicited by them. In the Pageant of April 19 the club also figured conspicuously; attired in white sweaters, red "tams" and blue skirts, representing "The Red, White and Blue," they carried an enormous American flag in the parade.

The organization is to be taken up and continued by the present Junior girls.

PAGEANT

On April 19, 1921, was held an event new to our school life. Patriots Day was for once adequately celebrated. In conjunction with Rindge, the Civil War Veterans, and the World War Veterans, we presented a pageant on the Library grounds. The Pageant, Our Flag in History, was written and directed by Miss Hartigan. Appropriate music was furnished by the Harvard Band.

Of the ten episodes, three were furnished by the Cambridge High and Latin School, and one by the K. B. Club '21, of C. H. L. S. Forty pupils participated all in appropriate costumes.

We assembled at Washington Hall, Rindge, and were marshaled into line each group representing a particular stage in the development of the American flag. At the close of an address by T. Harrison Cummings, on the "Birth of the Flag in Cambridge," we marched from Cambridge across Irving street to the Library grounds. Here we were reviewed by His Honor, the Mayor, and wheeling to the right marched on to the reviewing stand, built around the flag pole. As each group came into sight the Harvard Band struck up an appropriate piece lending a martial air to the whole. When all the groups had reached the stand the flag, filled with rose petals, was broken out and hoisted. After a short march along Broadway we returned to Rindge.

Miss Hartigan is to be complimented upon the dignity with which the whole ceremony was carried out. We hope that in future years, this precedent having been established, C. H. L. S. may do its part in commemorating America's dead.

DEBATING

There have been no interscholastic debates this year. The sole activity was the Durrell Prize Debate, which took place on Friday, May 20. Resolved: that all County Institutions, both Correctional and Penal, should be under State control; was the subject under discussion.

Upholding the proposition were Lester and Arthur King with Harry V. Goodwin as rebuttal speaker. Goodwin, who headed the affirmative team, is well known in debating circles. For the last three years he has been a member of the varsity, and was a candidate for the Durrell Cup in 1920. He is also a prize speaker of note holding the Liberty Medal and the C. H. L. S. D. A. Medal. Arthur King, supporting him, is a Junior of recognized ability. King is also a holder of the Liberty Medal. Lester King is a lower classman who has been prominent in interclass debates.

George A. McLaughlin, William McLaughlin and Milan Drake argued the negative. The teams were about evenly matched as George A. McLaughlin is the only experienced member of the negative. He has been a member of the varsity and is a holder of the Durrell Cup. William McLaughlin is a freshman of whom little is known, but his work in interclass debates stamps him a promising debater. The third member of the negative, Milan Drake, is a Sophomore and has appeared on his class team both this year and last.

Mr. Cleveland presided as in former years. Miss Hartigan coached the teams. Music was furnished by the C. H. L. S. orchestra under the direction of Mr. John B. Whoriskey.

G. A. A.

The Girls' Athletic Association was afraid its good name was going to be lost this year because it was accused of growing away from the gymnasium, but the members rallied and chose to join the gym rather than to change their name.

The president, Dorothy Rand, ran the Freshman Party and made it a country circus instead of the usual Costume Party.

We are famous for our Girl Dance and our Boy Dance, and this year we outdid ourselves to make both more than a success.

Oh, we have heaps of good things! Every Thursday evening in the Y. M. C. A. tank our new C. H. L. S. Girls' Swimming Club meets; at Thanksgiving we distributed baskets of food where they were needed; at Christmas, Santa Claus impersonated by Barbara Nolen, a former G. A. A. member, gave us each a stick of candy. At that Christmas meeting we were further honored by the presentation of the "Man from Brandon."

Ruth Miles, backed by the strongest office force ever seen, edited "The Periscope." We can safely say that our paper is neat, clever, and very cordially welcomed by the buying public.

Our seven basket-ball games, our Gymnasium exhibit, with its much heralded rope climbing, and the celebration of our tenth anniversary prove our ability to claim the name of the C. H. L. S. Girls' Athletic Association.

FOOTBALL

The 1920 football year was considered a very good one for Cambridge High and Latin. We were very fortunate in retaining our excellent coach, Mr. Leander MacDonald, and in having such a brilliant captain as John Crowley, who succeeded William Sayward.

We started the season well by defeating Peabody High and Swampscott High by the scores of 3-0 and 21-0, respectively. On October 12 we played our first league game with Somerville, a very heavy team, and although our team was handicapped by injuries Somerville only crossed our goal twice. On October 16 we played Brookline to a 0-0 tie and the following week we defeated Malden 6-0. Salem High was vanquished by us on October 30 with a score of 14-0. We lost to Medford by the score of 21-7 on November 6, but after a week of hard work we came back and defeated our old rival, Rindge, by the score of 14-3. This victory gave us the city championship. On November 22 we tied Newton, who later battled with Haverhill High for the New England scholastic honors. Our season closed Thanksgiving Day, when we defeated Everett High to the tune of 14-0.

The outstanding players of the team were Captain Crowley, "Izzy" Zarakov, "Jerry" Sullivan, John Fitzgerald, and John Culhane.

At a meeting of the letter men on December 8 Isadore Zarakov was elected captain of the 1921 team. We all wish him the best of luck and hope that he will lead a championship team.

HOCKEY

The most effective way to realize the success of this year's hockey team is to glance over the official scores. Victory after victory meets your eye until you tire of reading such a one-sided list.

As a result of the consistent and aggressive playing of Captain "Sonny" Foley and his mates, the virtual championship of Canada and of the Eastern States was awarded to Cambridge High and Latin School. This is the first time in the history of New England interscholastic hockey that such an honor has been received. That this additional honor was, in a great measure, due to the splendid spirit of co-operation always present under the regime of Mr. McDonald, no one can doubt.

No one player can be over-estimated; for each individual was a cog vital to the success of the whole. It would be foolhardy to attempt a description of the work of individual players for they are famous not as individuals but as a team. The following is the opinion of a prominent sporting editor: "The aggressive Cambridge Latin team will go down in history as the brainiest and classiest school-boy hockey team that ever graced the Arena surface."

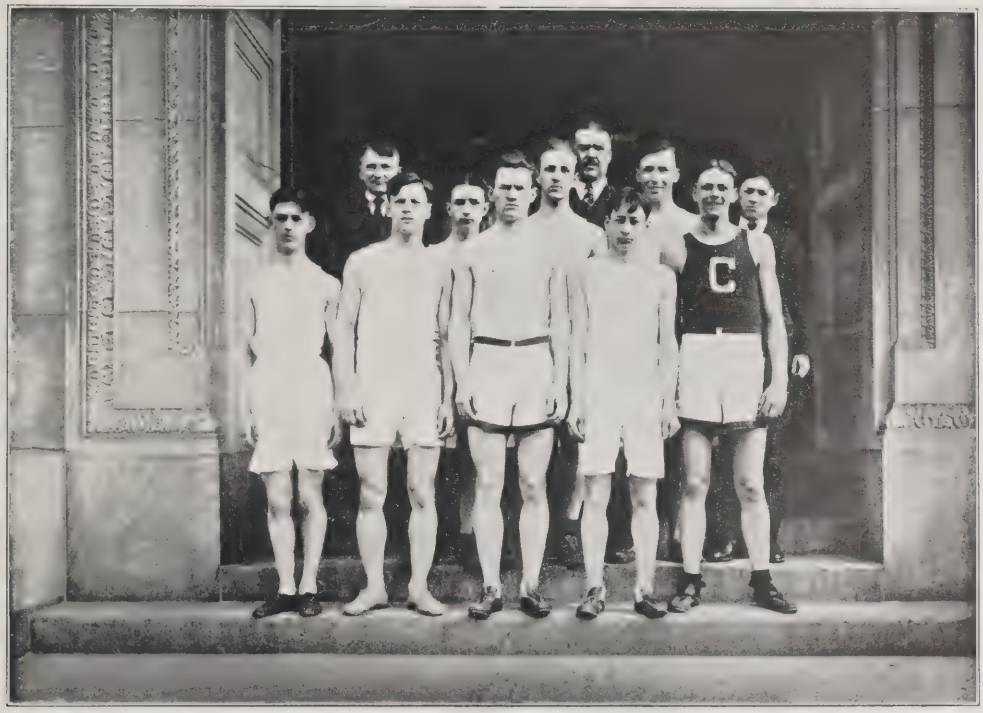
As a reward for his whole-hearted work during the past three seasons, "Tubber" Cronin was unanimously elected captain for 1922.

BASEBALL, 1921

This year's baseball team promises to add much to "Latin's" athletic history. Up to this publication it had sixteen successive victories to its credit, including Somerville, 2-0, Brookline, 9-5, Newton, 16-2. Rindge, 8-5, Everett, 14-3 and Medford, 6-2.

But the season is not over and the greatest of all athletic evils, overconfidence, must be battled with, if success is to be assured. The hitting and fielding of Captain "Sonney" Foley, "Punk" Gatreau, "Izzy" Zarakov, "Jocko" Culhane, and "Fat" Cote, and the pitching of "Cheese" McCrehan will undoubtedly raise the standards of High and Latin School's Hall of Fame.

The prospects for continuing Latin School's list of championship teams is bright, for Zarakov, Sullivan, Shea, Cronin, Duffey, Carver, Clancy, and many promising substitutes will return for another season.



TRACK

For the first time in four years, Cambridge High and Latin School was represented this winter by a track team. The success of this team, however, should not be judged by the results of its meets for, as in the case of every sport, at least one year is needed to lay the foundation for a championship team. Nevertheless, the season proved decisively that Cambridge Latin will be rated in the future among the leaders of the track, for the candidates showed a spirit that will prove irresistible.

The outstanding feature of the meets was the fine all-around work contributed by Captain John Crowley. He was ably supported in all ways by the letter men, Duffy, Cress, Emery, Cote, and Benidict.

From the number of under graduates who reported, it is evident that track is to be a favorite in a very short time. Let all these under classmen co-operate, and undoubtedly under the efficient tutelage of Mr. McDonald, next year's team will bring more laurels to our trophy room. We wish you the best of luck for a good season in 1921-22.

CREW

Captain Anderson led three veterans to the river this spring, and, with the acquisition of Coxswain Fitzgerald, and Coach Jack Kelly, this crew promises to lead many of its opponents to the finishing line.

The first two races of the year were against exceptionally strong fours and proved unsuccessful. These defeats, however, have served only to incite the boys with a greater desire to end their season in a victorious manner. We hope to take a place in the Harvard regatta which is to be held on the Charles, May 26th. We will also row in the B. I. R. A. one mile regatta, on June 2nd. Since the crew is showing the proper fighting spirit there is reason to look forward to victories in these events.

As the first crew is almost entirely composed of juniors, prospects are more than bright for a championship crew in 1922.

Get-Together Day

The first Get-Together-Day was in 1916, and the proceeds were about $300; the fifth Get-Together-Day was held in January, 1921, and the proceeds were $1134.15. The Latin and English Buildings united under the supervision of Mr. Bramhall to make the most successful Bazaar recorded in C. H. L. S. History. Class spirit and school spirit were manifest to the nth degree, and hearty co-operation between teachers and pupils made the affair a glorious success. In the afternoon the Latin School was gay with the festive booths representing the various classes and clubs of the school, and in the evening the more frivolous ones of the company went down to the gymnasium for dancing. Everything was sold, everyone had a good time and went home joyfully looking forward to future Get-Together-Days. Of the $1134.15, fifty percent will be used toward the War Memorial, $200 was given to Cambridge Charities, and the remainder was sent to the Hoover Fund.

The official report of the Get-Together-Day is as follows:

CLASS WILL

Commonwealth of Massachusetts

COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX

Know all men by these presents; that we the members of the class of 1921, of the Cambridge High and Latin School, City of Cambridge, State of Massachusetts, being in good health and of sound and disposing memory, do make, publish and declare this, our last will and testament.

We do hereby make the following bequests:

I. To all the future classes of said school, all choice and neglected wads of gum deposited in any part of the building, together with full enjoyment thereof.

II. To the Junior President for distribution as he sees fit; all broken, squeaking and disabled desks and chairs, likewise all dusty erasers, bits of crayon, and other means of entertainment.

III. To the "Cambridge Review" we leave one book entitled "Grave Jokes" in order that incoming Seniors may not be forced to read the same jokes in the "Review" and "Life."

IV. To the Class of 1922, we give and bequeath Miss Lillian R. Hartigan, together with all her services, talents and virtues to be enjoyed by them as may seem best.

V. To the Class of 1922, we also leave our dignity and our popularity with the faculty.

VI. To the future athletic teams, we leave our glorious records, our "old junk" (including peek-a-boo jerseys for football men), and our best wishes for luck in the future.

VII. In consideration for services rendered, we leave to the Junior Girls one Model Man, (any Senior).

VIII. To the teachers, we leave our best wishes, and a good solid oak mallet with which to begin operations on the Class of 1922.

IX. To the Senior Class teachers, a liberal supply of hammers and nails with which to go driving.

X. And to the classes to come, the knowledge that a man need not always be President of the Class, or Editor of the YEAR BOOK, and that dancing is not a necessary accomplishment for "holding down" these respective positions of Honor and Responsibility.

Given and signed by the Class of 1921 of the aforesaid school on this the 16th day of June in the presence of the following witnesses:

L. L. CLEVELAND, Headmaster.
THEODORE A. LYNCH, President
Class of 1921

OUR SCHOOL

With Apologies to Malt Wason

When back from Southland birdies come, when Spring is in the air; in school the pupils find no fun; they groan and tear their hair. "Why should we toil in stuffy rooms on such a glorious day? It makes us boil; it is a crime." These are the things they say. And when come out the failure slips and homework piles up fast, they loudly shout, "The school is punk! Our love for it is past!" The teachers all, both great and small, are sure a grouchy bunch. We'd like to maul these teachers mean and give them one swift punch!" The thought that it will soon be June and with it graduation, is not as one might think, a boon for that means 'zaminations. And so it goes—the pupils rave and slander their old school; they tell their woes to friends and foes about their lessons cruel. And one might judge from these sour guys that all they learned was rot, that all was drudge and labor hard, that school had gone to pot. But gaze and look, oh, reader dear on a wholly different gang, when on the frozen brook our team beats Melrose with a bang! "And then anon a wild huzzah they shriek with might and main; they rend the air with rousing cheers and yodle this refrain: "C. H. L. S.! That's where we're from; we want the world to know! The greatest place in the U. S. A.! We'll tell them all! Yea, bo!"

Frenzied Oratory

One of our debaters, after a voluminous display of words, wound up with:

"Believe me, friends, if it were possible to place these men on an uninhabited island where human foot had never trod, it would not be five minutes before they had their hands in the pockets of the naked savages."

The chairman of the social committee is also credited with saying of the Senior Dance:

"It will not be a dress affair, it will be absolutely the opposite."

CLASS ALPHABET

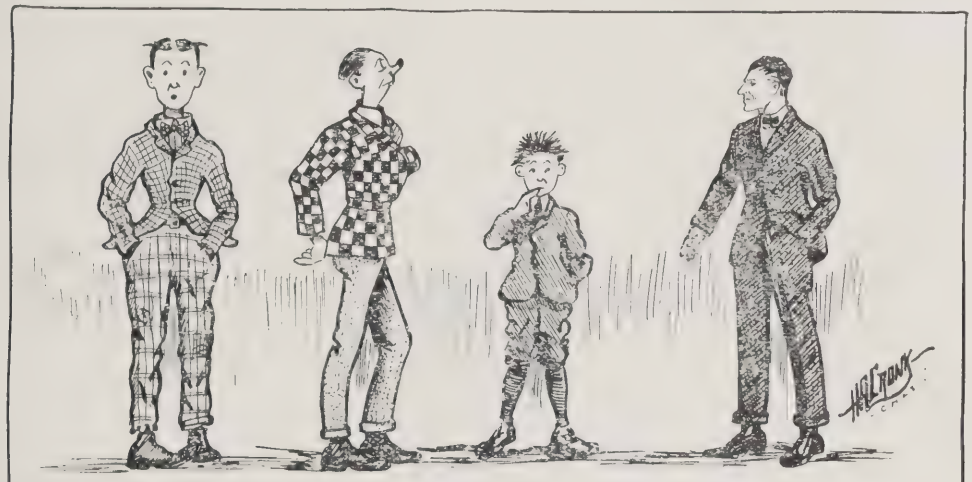
A is for Aline with disposition so sunny,
B is for Burleigh who's always so funny,
C is for Charles who is always so neat,
D is for Donald who's most legs and feet,
E is for Ellen the queen of our girls,
F is for Francis with saucy brown curls,
G is for George with the wonderful hair,
H is for Harry who dresses with care,
I is for Irving who can't be outdone,
J is for Jack who's chuck full of fun,
K is for Katherine our bright social star,
L is for Leo who's 'way above par,
M is for Mildred of whom we are fond,
N is for Nothing, so go right along,
O is for Olive who's so easy to please,
P is for Phillip who's always at ease,
Q is for Quality in which our class leads,
R is for Robert who is quite a tease,
S is for Susan whom we all adore,
T is for Theodore whom nothing can bore,
U is for Us so studiously inclined,
V is for Violette a beauty sublime,
W is for William who's "STUCK" on a blonde,
X is for Xams of which we are fond,
Y is for Youth, which excuses our shams,
Z is for Zest which we put in exams.

Wouldn't It Be Funny

If Ted weren't fussing some girl?
If Lou didn't dance every whirl?
If Myrtle ever came unprepared?
If Ella left her knowledge unaired?
If the "Heavenly Twins" should fight?
If Claire's hair should turn light?
If Cheese should shrink, Oh, so small?
If Carolyn were seven feet tall?
If Harry were seen without Ted?
If Tizzie should stand on his head?
If Constance should get in a fight?
If Jimmy should stay in at night?
If all these things should come true,
It would be funny, I think, don't you?

Nothing Wrong

"Have you any organic trouble?"
"No, I'm not a bit musical."



"You can always tell a Junior he is so sedately dressed,
You can always tell a Sophomore by the swell that's on his chest,
You can always tell a Freshman by his timid ways and such,
And you can always tell a Senior, but you cannot tell him much."

TRACK

All the track men who got over five points got Letters, Why not give those who got less, Postal Cards?

Shakespeare

Miss F.—"Fritz, why didn't you read the last act?"

Weiner—"Because it said right at the beginning, 'Last act, same as first.'"

Standley Tisch had some calling-cards printed; here's how they read:

Let's Get Acquainted
My name is
STANDLEY TISCH
Not Married—YET
Capital $15,999,000.00 -- in my dreams
My Home is in Heaven--Here on a Visit
Out for a Good Time
Will you have me call?

History

"Whom did the Ancients think supported the world?"

"Atlas!"

"Yes, but who supported Atlas?"

"Eh!—He married money, I guess."

Mr. B.—"Now that you've pointed out Alaska and the Bering Sea, point out Samoa."

Rynne—"Some more what?"

Any Freshman

Barber—"Do you want a haircut?"
Stud.—"No, I want them all cut."
Barber—"Any particular way?"
Stud.—"Yes, off."

To My Dear Friend, A. F. Clyde

PHILIP DOHERTY

There was a young man named Clyde,
Who at a funeral was spied,
When asked who was dead, he merely said.
"I don't know, I just came for the ride."

The Seniors

*S*eniors, every one,
*E*ducation nearly done,
*N*oise we'll surely miss,
*I*ntentions, O, such bliss,
*O*bey was our watchword,
*R*ules ne'er did we disturb.
*S*chool we have to leave,
That's why we deeply grieve.

O, Death! Where is Thy Sting?

Fresh.—"Please, ma'am, I didn't understand the question."
Soph.—"Give me the question again."
Junior—"I didn't get it."
Senior—"Huh?"

She's Right

Fresh.—"Auntie, I'm studying about the least common multiple."
Aunt—"That's right my child, always go in for whatever is least common."

Going Strong

She—"I just love to sit and watch other people dance."
He—"Don't mention it. I don't know how to dance either."

"Darling, do you think you could be happy with a man like me?"
"Well, perhaps dear, if he wasn't too much like you."

"Who was the wall-flower at the Senior Dance?" (Not more than fifty names considered correct.)

T. Lynch—"You know so many girls have gone crazy over my hair, and my voice, and—"
All the girls—"Louder, louder, it pays to advertise.

Why is Tisdale so wild? O, no, Madeline!

For Nothing At All

Abe Doctoroff stepped on a piece of orange peel, slipped and slid down the banister to the second floor. Mr. Jacobs promptly gave him three nights in the tardy room for "conduct unbecoming a gentleman." Take out a license next time, Abe.

Lesson for Today

"Be it ever so homely, there's no face like your own."

Miss Ruggli—"What do you know about volume?"
Emery—"I know what page it is on."

Human Nature

When a Freshman first enters the student ranks.
He cuts up capers and all manner of pranks,
He acts unseemly and foolish, 'tis true,
But what else is a Freshman expected to do?

He's All Right

Mr. Bramhall (coming in late):—"Sorry to have kept the class waiting."
Voice—"Oh, that's all right."

Who is the biggest pest? For your benefit. Don.

Who is the wittiest? Did Emery mean what he said about laughing-gas smelling funny?

Who is the biggest child? McCrehan is a big boy.

Who likes to hear herself talk? Ask Ella, she knows.

Here is the most important lesson in geography:—"The City of Happiness is situated in the State of Mind."

For the First Five Years

the high school graduate who goes into business seems to keep ahead of the man who has gone to college.

After Five Years

the college man has added business experience to the mental training he received in college, and he usually outstrips the non-college man.

Northeastern College School of Commerce and Finance has a unique plan by which a man enters college and business simultaneously ---- he earns while he learns.

It 's worth your while to find out how it is done.
